a triangle —

THREE LINES connecting . . . each extends in a different direction in life . . . indicating achievement, yet not completion.

In the construction of the triangle each class has its own line . . . its own measure of accomplishment.

Wide-eyed sophomores stretch out their hands for social acceptance in the Falcon corridors . . . it takes time to gain recognition.

Determined juniors, stable in their second year, grasp eagerly for new ideas in learning methods of the complex world.

Proud, anxious, and competent in their studies, the seniors strive onward with enthusiasm . . . around their leadership evolves the Falcon spirit whether in classes, assemblies, gym, or the Commons Area.

This is the Falcon triangle — social activities, study habits, and school spirit.

we are unique . . .

spirit

"WE HAIL our banners red and black . . ."

With acclaiming cheer — FIGHT FALCONS! rising above the bleachers, future leaders combine vivacious voices — backed by the Pep Band — in unison, pleading for a Falcon victory . . . "for the glory of our school" . . . don't yield, they plead, as the Falcons push onward . . . hesitate . . . then score.

Lingering in the Commons Area, the gym, and in the cafeteria, the Falcon spirit emerges . . . challenges . . . spiraling spirit, the determination of the conquerors.

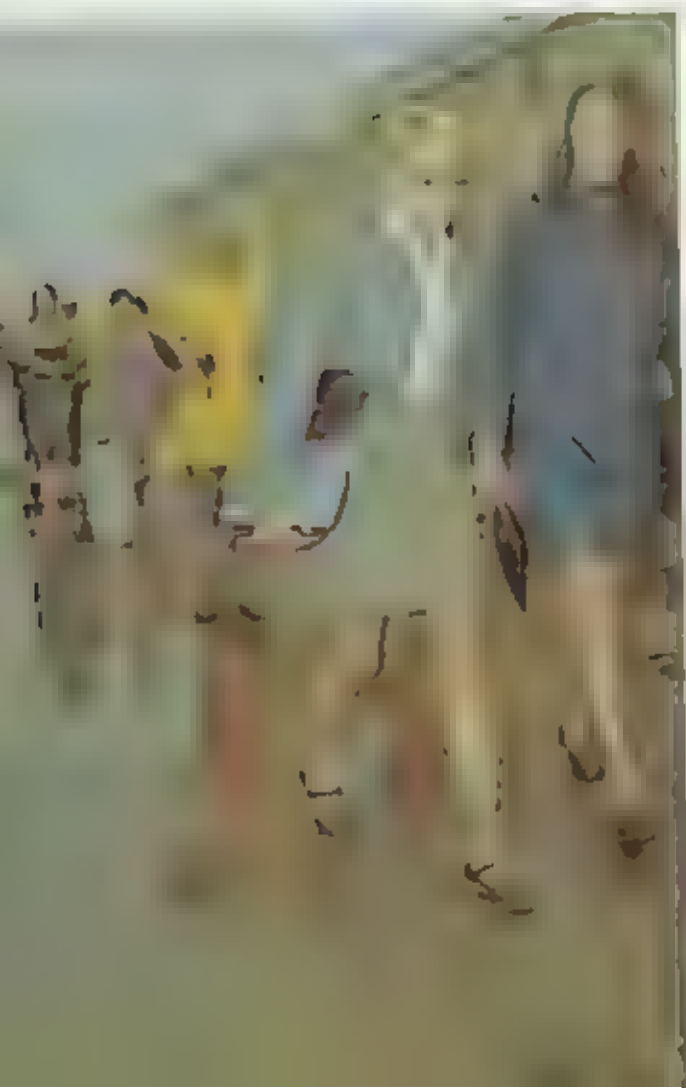

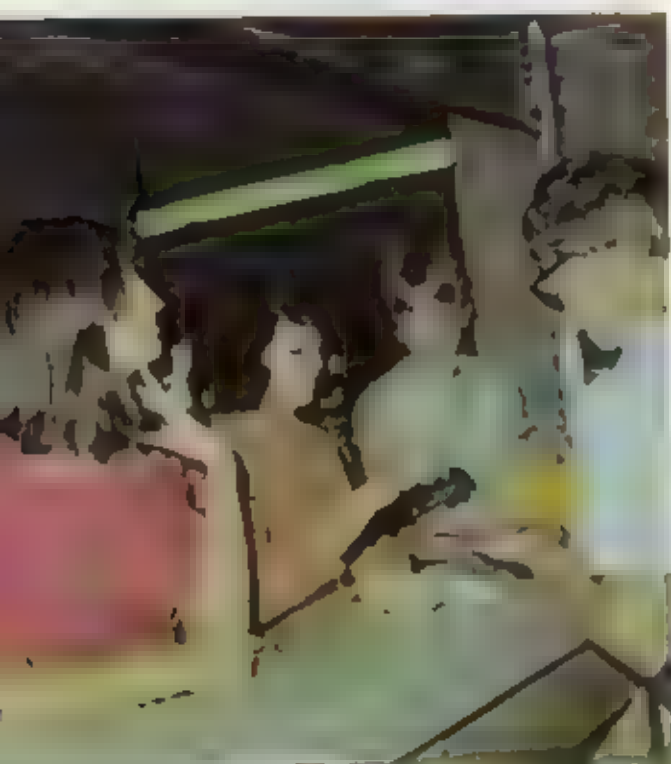

Fondness . . . devotion . . . duty . . . self-consciousness is shed . . . voices respond to cheer leaders' yells . . . our loyalty is pledged.

we travel in style . . .

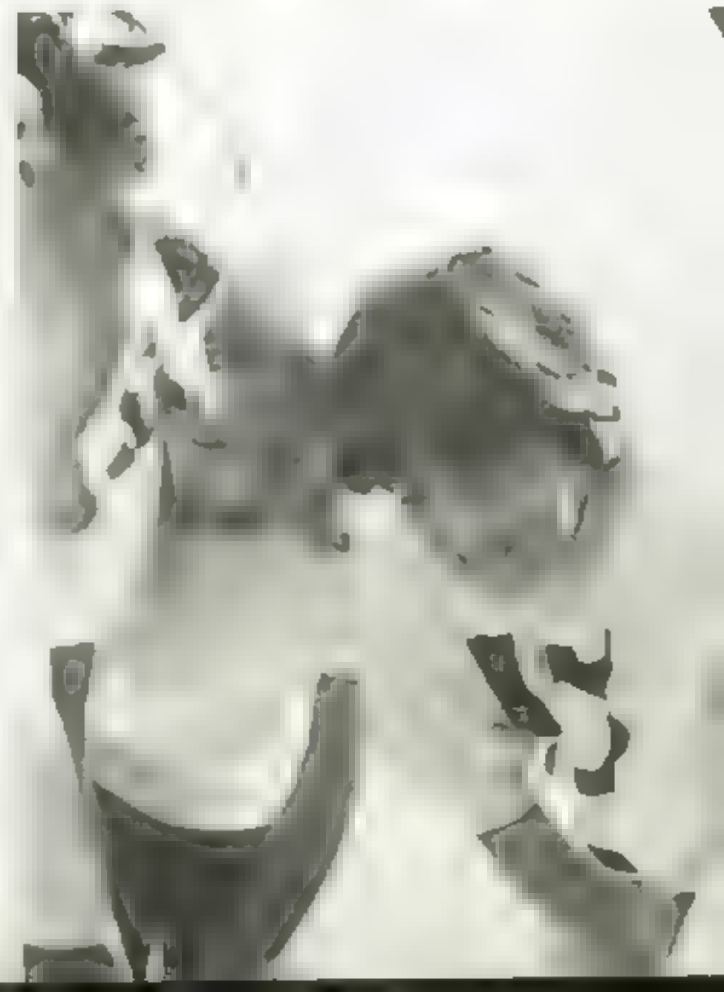

study —

SHEDDING the worn shell — self identity steals . . . from among the melodic chords of music . . . an art creation a story in the Highlighter . . . sociology discussions . . . a part in a drama play . . . grasping all that inquiring minds can absorb . . . that eyes can photograph . . . that the Falcon minds can record to replay in some unwonted moment.

Awareness of differences between beliefs, government, races, and social structures . . . words become balls of fires dancing between verbal discussions.

The mind . . . aware of the importance of studying searches through the files of history . . . geography . . . algebra . . . famous writings . . . to find that which is unknown . . . seeking the path of new discoveries . . . the answers to a challenging world . . . opening the doors for more to come

Dr. Alvin E. Morris — Superintendent of Unified District 259

Dr. Robert E. Anderson creates a winning spirit

COLLECTOR OF COINS . . . lover of music . . . sports enthusiast . . . all these describe Dr. Robert E. Anderson, principal and head guardian of the Falcons Principal when Heights came into the city system, July 1963, he took time out the first semester of the 1964-65 term to earn his doctorate at the University of Wyoming, Laramie. In the fall of 1966 he returned to Heights as principal

Dr. Anderson has several out-of-school interests. He served as president of the Wichita Administrators League this year and was president of the Greater Athletic League

His hobby of collecting coins began when he received a starter collection from his father. His favorite is his half-dollar series

Dr. Anderson enjoys handball for fun and "because it is a good conditioner."

He enjoys golf, too, and regrets that he has so little time to spend on Wichita's several golf courses

For music Dr. Anderson admits a fondness. Many times his records can be heard playing over the intercom. He prefers musical comedy and classical music but enjoys all types, he said. Many times he finds himself listening to modern music when his daughters are home

Dr. Anderson's home is in nearby Maize where he lives with his wife, two daughters, and the newest member of the family, a registered miniature dachshund named Greta

new administrators

pilots spirited Falcons

THREE NEW ADMINISTRATORS faced the new school year last August 28

After serving as deputy superintendent the last 10 years, new superintendent of Unified District No. 259, Dr. Alvin Morris replaced Dr. Lawrence H. Shephoiser as superintendent of schools last summer

Both assistant principals, Jerry D. Bailey and C. S. Ebert, were new to the 'Home of the Falcons' when school started

Mr. Bailey taught seventh and eighth grade science for four years at Brooks Junior High and was ninth grade counselor for two years

This year he scheduled activities and helped many students adjust to Falcon customs and regulations during the year

Mr. Ebert previously taught at Matthewson and Truesdale junior high schools. This was his third year in administrative work

ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL Jerry D. Bailey

ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL C. S. Ebert

Senior Counselor, Mr. Norris Burke

not enough time — too many students

NEED HELP? — Counselor Warren Lewis was always eager to help his sophomores with scheduling, enrollment or even personal problems COUNSELING 1,617 students is not an easy job, admitted the LBJ team of Mr. Warren Lewis, Mrs. Claradine Johnson, and Mr. Morris Burke, head counselor.

The 626 sophomores presented quite a task for Counselor Lewis who last year was counselor to the seniors. In the rotation plan he was the sophomore counselor and will be with them until their graduation in 1971.

In his eighth year as counseling for the Falcons, Mr. Lewis has spent a total of 19 years in the teaching profession.

American history and government were just a few of the subjects he taught before becoming a counselor.

"I like kids," he said. "When I taught at Wellington, students kept coming in after school to talk to me. I felt that there must be some other way I could assist these kids. As a result of my brother's influence, I became a counselor."

This was Mrs. Claradine Johnson's fourth year as a counselor. Guiding 545 juniors, she volunteered that counseling students is not easy but is very important.

"Having two of my own, I enjoy listening and being with the younger generation. No two are alike, and everyday is completely unpredictable," said Mrs. Johnson. "Their outcome is very important. After all, they are the future leaders of America."

"Counseling involves not only the students, but the parents and teachers as well," said Mr. Norris Burke, head and senior counselor.

Teaching for 34 years, Mr. Burke has taught various subjects as well as publishing a few articles that have been read nation-wide.

Counselor Burke, in his eighth year at Heights, had 436 seniors to advise, guide, and help prepare for working or college careers.

language arts

ape . . . a step toward better english preparation

"THE WHOLE FIELD of English is undergoing a change, much like that undergone by math a few years ago

"A different approach to how language functions and an emphasis on the generative grammars, the Roberts English Series is introduced in the grade school with the structure of sentences. At the high school level, teachers are concerned with the larger aspects of language: paragraph structure, composition, and essays," said Mr. Olin Hiebert, Language Arts Department head

New this year was Advance Placement English. Eighteen students were enrolled in Mrs. Wilma Morse's fourth hour participation class and first and sixth hour APE study hours

Studying all types of literature: novels, drama, and poetry, Mrs. Morse said, "The purpose of our course was to read intensely some of the great works in literature and to acquire the habit of developing a subject at deeper levels and presenting it in a paper."

Language Arts included English, drama, speech, debate, journalism, publications, college reading, English composition, special education, and humanities and involved reading, writing, speaking, and listening

only the Falcon best

NO MUSIC LIKE GOOD MUSIC and the Falcons had a reputation of presenting the best to appreciative concert audiences

Air conditioning added new comfort to the music department this year. Installed last spring it provided year round comfort for music students

Extra marching to keep those new members in line kept the band members practicing for entertaining shows at varsity games. Marching before, during, and after school made Heights 128-member band one of Wichita's finest precision drill organizations in the state

Thirteen musicians were chosen to be in the Wichita Junior and Senior Youth Symphonies. They were seniors Dana Scheer, violin; Virginia Arzinger, oboe; Marla Graves, bassoon; Don Martin, clarinet; juniors Jocelyn Pierpont, violin; Mike Powell, trombone; Steve Imbler, trombone; and sophomores Mike Prokes, violin; and Debra Unruh, violin

The junior symphony members were juniors Debra Hardy, violin; Frankie Gray, violin; Denise Schraer, clarinet and sophomore Larry Hensley, violin

For the first time the 83-member concert choir made an out-of-city tour. Planned early in the fall the vocalists were scheduled to appear at two schools for performances

Mr. Charles Lawson — Fine Arts Head, Instrumental Music

Mr. Wayne J. Holmstrom — Vocal Music

Miss Mary Labara — Drama Speech

Mr. Richard Barnes — Debate, Speech

Miss Diana Paltan — English

Mrs. Marie Nixon — Librarian

LOVE is "amor" in Room 104. In Room 107 it's "liebe". In Room A8 it's "l'amour," and in Room 105, again it's "amor."

For first year students, studying a new language was brain racking — but, as the year progressed and they learned the basic fundamentals, a sense of achievement replaced frustration.

Second year students found it not quite so difficult as their first year. Research papers, seeing films, and listening to records helped, nevertheless, it demanded more intense study — more hours of preparation and practice.

Third and fourth year students extended their knowledge by reading some of the literary works and doing research papers on some of the country's great artists, writers, and leaders.

BANQUET TIME — Dr. Alvin E. Morris, superintendent of schools, enjoys the Latin banquet as does Mrs. Truly Yust, Latin Club sponsor.

art

adds to culture, growth

AN ART DEPARTMENT "on its toes" kept students interested in its many offerings all year

Watercolor, acrylic, pastel, pencil, charcoal, and oil were just part of the media that made up the visual artistic experience of the budding artist

Teachers initially reduced art into its more basic elements: perspective, value, color theory, structure, and composition. After understanding these basic skills the students were directed in to more diverse areas

Preparing for exhibitions kept the department on its toes. Heights was well represented at the National Scholastics Art Exhibition in the Wichita City Library as well as those at the Twin Lakes Shopping Center, the Board of Education Conference Room, Southwestern National Bank, and the Stairway Gallery at Wichita State University

An important project carried out this year was the stained-glass window created by chosen art students. The window gave a special accent to the Art Department hall

Photography was a welcome addition to the art curriculum. Several students learned how to handle equipment as well as develop and print pictures. After acquiring these skills they made an animated cartoon film

Mr. Tom Phillippe — Ceramics, Crafts, Introduction to Art

Mr. Paul Waner — Painting, Design

Mr. John Criss — Drivers Education

Mr. John Swearingin — Geometry, Basic Math

Mr. Mose Stucky — Algebra

Mr. Carl Tilley — Basic Math, Geometry

mathematics

wasn't as easy as pie

EACH SCHOOL YEAR students step into math class unaware of the work and study that lies ahead. By mid-year they find the Pythagorean Theorem or quadratic equations not so difficult after all

Wanting to learn in order to learn was required for success, and math was no exception. After first conquering the basic steps of math it became easier

A variety of courses from basic math to the more ambitious courses were offered like trigonometry and analytical geometry. Two classes of basic math, six classes of Algebra I, six classes of Algebra II, seven classes of geometry, two classes of trigonometry and analytical geometry, plus two classes of physics were opened to hopeful mathematicians

There was time to think . . . to analyze . . . to work out problems, both math and personal, in a systematic way. Some chose to take more advanced courses, others found math wasn't their specialty — always a life problem

Math helped all enrollees solve everyday problems. How many gallons of gas was needed to go on a football trip? It took math to figure budgets for school activities. The steps for proving theorems helped students analyze and prove their points.

Basic math courses were necessary for students taking chemistry

Without math how could one figure how to feed eleven people equally from one pie?

M. Clark Herrin — Algebra, Basic Math

Mr. Ralph Hoagland — Algebra

Mrs. Vera Hunter — Short hand, Office Practice

Mr. Keith Wilson — Business Department Head, Typing, Bookkeeping

Mr. Robert Erikstrum — Salesmanship, Shorthand Business Courses

becomes modernized

A WALL REMOVED . . . seventy-two typewriters in one room . . . a mike set up in front of the room with speakers in the back . . . electronic units for each student . . . such were the renovations in Room 112 this year

By using a head phone and three sets of tapes, the typing classes were able to progress at their own speed

Overhead projectors and business forms to work out, the bookkeeping classes attempted to grasp the fundamental process of bookkeeping and accounting

Civil Service tests were given to all seniors enrolled in shorthand and typing this year. The test, consisting of a five minute take in both shorthand and typing, enabled the girls with high scores to obtain government jobs.

Courses offered in business included Shorthand I, Typing I and II, bookkeeping, salesmanship, clerical training, office practice, introduction to business, business law and communication, and accounting

holds something for all

VARIETY, yet something for everyone, was what 750 students discovered in science classes

Aeronautics students, averaging 25 each semester, took the required 60-hour ground school course—then the flight training. Big thrill came when qualified students flew the triangular course from Wichita to Anthony to Strother Field, Winfield, then home

In basic classes students sampled and skimmed the surface of most sciences. From this exposure they were able to choose future science courses

Ecology — the relationship of man to his environment — was the theme in biology. Students counted yeast cells and found the yeast colony population count

Making and measuring gas, working with molds, making silver trees, determining unknown solutions, and studying oxygenation and reduction kept over 70 amateur chemists busy in the lab

Mr. William Judd — Science Department Head, Chemistry, Basic Science, Aeronautics

Mr. Lewis Hutch — Biology, Physiology

Mr. Harold Mast — Biology, Zoology

Mr. Sherman C. Nystrum — Biology

Mr. Deb Johnson — U.S. History, Social Studies Seminar, Current Events

Mr. Jack Reid — Government, Russian History

Mrs. Donna Copley — Psychology, U.S. History

home economics enrolls boys too

NEWEST ADDITION in home economics this year? BOYS!

For the first time boys were permitted to enroll in home and family relations class

"Becoming Involved" and "What Holds a Marriage Together?" were topics discussed dealing with home and family problems

Child development was basically concerned with care and better understanding of children. During the first three weeks of December students conducted a child day school Girls in clothing classes learned to distinguish the different types of fibers and look for the best quality when buying materials. Each also learned to select the line, color, and design most complimentary to her size and shape

From Room 17 came the delicious aromas of food being prepared by the members of food classes

Not only were the "hows" of cooking taught to the girls but also the "whys" were explained

social science

tunes in current issues

CONSTANT POLITICAL and social changes in the world today made it vitally important that all people be well informed about government and its operation

Overhead projectors centered on screens projectors buzzed as film ran through . . . newspapers crackled as curious students kept abreast of the Apollo 7 and 8 flights and the local, state, and national elections . . . term papers required library research

Juniors jumped into the sea of American history starting with Columbus. After exciting excursions through the settling of America, the Civil War, the Depression, the World Wars, they focused on the Humphrey — Nixon — Wallace campaigns, as well as the Docking — Harman gubernatorial race

Gradually the human kaleidoscope began to take form as students delved into psychology, economics, government, geography . . . a wonderful changing pattern

Mrs. Peggy McAvonia — Foods

Mrs. Margaret Skewes — Home Economics Department Head, Family Relations, Clothing, Home Furnishings

Mrs. Jean Temming — Clothing

Mrs. Georgia Christmas — Child Development, Clothing

Mr. Shiu Shankar — World History, World Geography, Current Events.

Mr. John Harrell — U.S. History, Psychology, Government

Mr. Logan Gulley — Woodworking

Mr. Roger K. Birckhead — Drafting, Pre-Engineering Metals

practical arts

gives practical training, preparation for jobs

PRE-ENGINEERING or architectural training was provided in Drafting I, II, III. Selection from these and their projects provided numerous experiences for the boys enrolled.

Auto mechanics was an education-type course for those interested in the basic fundamentals of auto construction and maintenance.

Auto information was offered, strictly dealing with the theory of all systems of the car.

Vocational auto mechanics was designed to train the students to be professional mechanics. The course covered all parts of the automobile engine — transmission as well as the electrical system.

New to the driver's ed department was the $38,000 driver trainer trailer. The "three-on-the-floor" trainers led with coded film were able to detect speed, steering, turn signals, and braking mistakes. Teachers could turn a switch and empty the gas tank, making it impossible to start the engine.

Printing classes learned to use the offset press and metal master, then, from the experience they printed hall passes, envelopes, attendance slips, schedules, and programs for the school.

Wood working classes learned the basics of the trade by producing the four required projects — a cutting board, a small chest, a tool holder, and a spice shelf.

Vocational welding provided on-the-job-training for welders making tables for the shop gave them needed experiences.

Metal working with machines rather than the hand processes was the objective of the metals classes.

Mr. Eldon Zimbelman — Vocational Auto Mechanics

Mr. Oren Smith — Vocational Welding, Welding, Metals

Mr. James E. Fowler — Printing, Drafting, Woodworking

Mr. R. F. Tackett — Auto Information, Auto Mechanics, Metals

Mr. Jack L. Mahan — U.S. History, Driver Education

Mr. Jim Lininger — Driver Education

physical education

coordinates mind, body

"ONE-TWO, three-four, two-two, three-four" was chanted again and again each period in the gym as 370 girls and 498 boys zipped through conditioning exercises.

Of the girl's classes, the third hour was the largest with 85 girls, while the first hour was the smallest with 43 girls. Fall sports for girls were speedway and field hockey. Swimming, basketball, volleyball, and gymnastic skills were among the winter sports. They traveled to Crestview Bowling Alley once every week in buses where exciting bowling games took place.

As spring and warm weather came, the girls met out-of-doors for softball and track after a 10-minute exercise period in the gym.

Boys' gym included almost one third of the enrollment of the entire school. The largest class, third hour, had 133. First hour was the smallest with 45.

Although the boys had an adequate number of lockers, many were in need of repair. Some of the older lockers could easily be "popped" open, so a plea was put in to the BOE for locker repair and more lockers.

In the fall flag football and soccer, during the winter basketball, volleyball, line soccer and football were their competitive games.

opens doors to learning

SET UP as an instructional materials center, for use of books, audio-visual equipment and materials, the library served as an open door to learning for all students.

Most popular with the adventurous were books of fiction, enabling the reader to escape into the world of the unknown. Social science and biography were favorites of the more studious.

Newest addition to the many machines available in the library was the 107 Dry Copier. With it, students were able to make negative reproduction pages from books and magazines for 10¢, aiding classroom reporting.

Eighteen library assistants were kept busy filing the 11,511 books, 231 of them new. About 300 more volumes were placed on shelves later in the year.

Over-head projectors, tape recorders, record players, micro-film readers, and projectors helped aided the faculty in compiling class materials.

Searching for term paper information or simply for recreational reading purposes, students found the independent first and sixth hour study classes, besides before and after school, a helpful opportunity to delve into the vast resources of knowledge.

they keep the statistics

PASSING by the Big Office on the way to classes this year, few perhaps noticed four busy secretaries working in the nerve center of Heights

Private secretary to Dr. Robert E. Anderson, Mrs. Mary Lafferty also served as the school's bookkeeper and financial secretary

Mrs. Cleda Marlow was kept busy as personal secretary for Assistant Principals Jerry Bailey and C. S. Ebert. She also worked on data processing and transportation schedules

As part of her work as registrar, Mrs. Bonnie Weir prepared player eligibility lists. She did numerous other office tasks — many of which had to be done each day

SPECIALISTS — (seated) Mrs. Nita Calamaio and Mrs. Susan Dykhuizen, Activity Office clerks, (standing) Mrs. Gloria Small, Business Aide, Mrs. Helen Davis, Library Assistant

Despite the constant flow of traffic in this area Mrs. Nita Calamaio and Mrs. Susan Dykhuizen had to keep up with their many clerical duties as well

Mrs. Calamaio, secretary to the three counselors, supervised students operating the duplicating machines, she was in charge of junior ring orders as well as senior cap and gown orders. Many were the reports she had to type — sometimes it was a wonder she could flash her ever ready smile as her work piled up, but she did

Mrs. Dykhuizen, secretary to Athletic Director Fred Simmons, did clerical work for Nurse Earnestine Faldtz, distributed and collected for student picture packets, sold pre-game tickets to students, and typed numerous reports. She often borrowed time to answer the many questions students flung at her full-time nurse

see Falcons are fit

FOR THE FIRST year Mrs. Earnestine Faldtz, school nurse, spent the entire day each week keeping Falcons bright and healthy. Before this year she was only here part time

Her major duty, as school nurse, was to provide emergency care for the students who were involved in accidents or became ill

Most common complaints of students were of headaches and stomachaches. Students having reactions from medications, without realizing it, needed her help many times custodians

keep everything shiny

BECAUSE OF the attractive landscaping and the immaculate halls and corridors, proud Falcons will always remember Heights

Mr. Jim Upchurch and his assistant Mr. Elvin Rogers worked tirelessly to keep the campus beautiful, many recognized it as the neatest campus in the city.

Mr. Larry Underwood and his crew kept the Falcon halls sparkling and neat at all times. Addition of four more portables increased their work

action proves success

"I THINK WE can be assured that this year will be the most productive yet, for we all seek a common goal, the success of the Student Council," Kim Richey, Student Council president

Productive they were! September brought the traditional Falcon Week. Hosting Student Council Workshop during Falcon Week brought added duties to council members who carried the responsibility well

"Mr. Falcon", Vicki Cocke, '69, was elected by Stuco in the fall. An amendment was written and added to the constitution concerning the election and duties of the school mascot

The dress code committee, consisting not only of Council members but other students as well, produced a new dress code

March of Dimes Bread Sale, with 40 Stuco members participating, was successful in collecting $229 in donations

Sophomore and members-at-large elections were held in the fall, bringing the total membership to 49

To wind up a successful year, the Student Council supervised spring elections for next year's Council

HERE IT IS — The Talon '69. Not only is it larger, 9x12, in size than any other previous yearbook (they were 8x10), but more candid and fun pictures are offered.

Highlights for the year included the crowning of Talon King Brent Knott and Queen Rubie Carliss at the Christmas dance, selling student directories, "The Hotline", selling new autograph inserts for the book, and finally the Talon '69 distribution in May.

The week of December 9-13 was hectic as the voting (a penny per vote, silver and currency subtracted) for the Talon '69 King and Queen took place. From 16 boys and 16 girls, seniors, the student body selected 5 boys and 5 girls.

Jennifer MacMillan headed "The Hotline" production, while Vicki Cocke designed its cover.

The staff hopes you enjoy something they worked on for six months to present you as a living memory of the 1968-69 school year.

news expansion covers controversial issues

KEEPING students abreast of school, local, state, and national issues by producing thirteen news-filled, controversial as well as thought-provoking issues was the main objective of the Highlighter staff which met the fifth hour in Room 122

The 20 reporters watched for news in the making, gathered the information, compiled it in accurate, concise paragraphs, proofread it for mistakes, revised it, met deadlines, and spent Saturdays at the printer where they proofread the paper before the final distribution of copies each Monday to students holding 1,031 activity tickets

Relaxation was rare — staff meetings, more stories, ever present deadlines prodded reporters onward, but news was abundant

More student body members submitted controversial editorials and letters. They were given the opportunity to state their differences of opinion

MORE IDEAS — for stories insist Assistant Editor Debbie Toddleson '69, and Highlighter Editor Stephanie Finch, '69

acting appeals to 124

STARTING with the evening of Variety, November 21-22, the drama department began to roll with skits, blackouts, and take-offs from commercials. A special cutting of a one-act play, "Hope Is a Thing With Feathers," featured Charlie Brown and all of the other Peanuts characters. A take-off from "Laugh-In" featured the Party, similar to the one on TV.

Approximately 15 veteran performers returned this year to assist in making the drama department great as always.

Drama classes soared to a new high with three drama one classes totaling 97 students with combined drama two and three classes totaling 27 students.

thespians

Initiation, January 11, brought a variety of characters to life as Thespians donned costumes for the day. Mickey Mouse, Napoleon, Abraham Lincoln, Scarlett O'Hara, Huck Finn, Paul Revere, and even Hitler attended classes.

Spring initiation added more deserving Thespians to the roll.

WHY CAN'T HE CATCH THE DUCK? — de lauds Bill Fehner, '69, of Morgan Patrick, '69, in the Evening of Variety, November 22-23.

"OOPS! SMEARED IT" — sighs Su Meadows, '69, as Jody List, '69, waits patiently.

WHAT A THRILL BEING OLD — Connie C. Kennedy, '68, and Mike Davis, '68, illustrate it in the drama "Silver Whistle."

novices provide depth

DEBATING the proposition of "compulsory service for all citizens," the debaters have never before done so well, yet won so little to show for it. Backed by a very strong novice squad, the experienced squad compiled a season record of 109 wins and 52 losses. The season's highlight came when Marla Graves and Bill Hensley won the NFL State title. They will represent Kansas at the National NFL Tournament in Washington, D. C. this summer. Other trophy winners for the included Kim Richey, Neal Robinson, both experienced debaters and Cindy Dean, Peter Gray, Keith Richey, and Judy Zandt (all novices)

members add trophies

AFTER DEBATE season ended in January, over 35 National Forensics League members set out to add to the collection of trophies already won in previous competition.

At the state NFL meet, Bill Hensley and Marla Graves brought back to Heights a first place state trophy.

A new lectern for use at school assemblies, commencement, and other meetings was presented to the school last May by NFL members.

NFL, composed of the top debaters and forensic students, sponsored a debate and forensic tournament. Students also raised funds to help finance trips and service projects by running concession stands during football season.

Sponsors were Mr. Dick Barnes, debate, and Miss Mary Jabara, drama.

foreign clubs enjoy active, fun-filled year

SPANISH CLUB members enjoyed an active year. Their first meeting centered around a guest speaker who showed slides of a trip to Mexico. Their Christmas party included guests from the North High Spanish Club. Celebrating All-American Day in April and having a Spanish Club bake sale with a banquet ended their fun-filled year.

GERMAN KLUB members participated in the carnival sponsored by Student Council and at the end of the year held their annual dinner.

FRENCH CLUB members also enjoyed festivities of a Christmas party. They also had a booth in the Student Council sponsored carnival.

LATIN CLUB members sponsored an Indian Dance in November at which approximately 200 people attended. Members celebrated Christmas by having a fireside Christmas party. In February they celebrated the Roman holiday Lupercalia. They ended their year's activities with a Roman banquet in the cafeteria.

Falcons proudly march in presidential parade.

EYES ALERT, all in step the 131-piece Falcon band let the crowd gathered along Pennsylvania Avenue in Washington, D.C. know "We're from Kansas — good old Kansas where the great big sunflowers grow" when they proudly marched in President Nixon's inaugural parade, January 20

Highlighting the year, the trip had to be earned. Early morning marching, and near zero weather, and marching during Christmas vacation prepared the band physically for the cold weather in D.C. Selling stationery, candy, dinner tickets, balloons, and having a carnival provided part of the funds for the trip. Donations came from many groups, individuals, and businesses

It was worth it all, for memories of the inauguration, seeing many historical spots in the capital, and the jet ride to and from Washington, D.C. proved to be an out-of-the-ordinary experience for the band members

The district festival, the spring musical and their finale, commencement, ended the year's activities

concert choir 'best' announces mr. holmstrom

COMPOSING. — a moment Mr. W. Holmstrom, vocal director, works during his planning period in the faculty lounge

OVER 250 students enrolled in the vocal department in sophomore choir, mixed chorus, madrigals, and concert choir kept director Mr. Wayne Holmstrom busy

The concert choir is probably the best choir that I've had," said Mr. Holmstrom

Appearances at Pleasant Valley and Brooks Junior High Schools by the "select group" provided entertainment during the Christmas holidays and at Homecoming ceremonies

Concerts in October and December helped provide funds, along with left-over money from the marching band's trip to Washington, D. C., to supply the music department with two of the much needed choral shells which will be used by the orchestra also Spring plans included a one day trip to two other city schools, singing at graduation in May, music festivals, and the spring musical. The City music festival, March 29, and the state music festival in April provided competition for the choir, ensembles, and individual soloists

Madrigals, consisting of 20 students, sang selections from the Renaissance Period, Broadway hits, folk songs, pop tunes, and contemporary music. Entertaining for civic and community organizations, school groups, Christmas parties and for the Veteran's hospital were among the twelve appearances made by the group during Christmas time

volume, size, new uniforms rate top billing

A RED and black sea of Pep Club uniforms overflowed bleachers at each football or basketball game during the year — this was the largest Pep Club, 350, to ever cheer on the Falcons to fighting fever. And they held nothing back — appreciative, thunderous cheers rose for a first-in-ten, a field goal, or a good play. Varsity cheerleaders asked and the club responded "Fight on, Falcons!"

New uniforms gave the pepsters a special pride — red jumpers were worn with black sweaters and black knee socks, black and white saddle shoes topped with red or black berets

Weekly poster parties — fall, winter, and spring — spread enthusiasm and courage to Falcon athletes when walking through the Commons Area and the corridors before games

Dad's night during football and basketball seasons, Homecoming, the Sweetheart dance, and numerous pep assemblies united the Falcons and provided excitement, spirit, variety which highlighted the sports seasons.

wins over carroll and east highlight season

BEATING EAST — for the first time in school history highlighted the '68 football season. The Falcons finished with a 2-win 7-loss slate

Despite the losing season, many individual awards were won by Falcons players, junior Steve Anderson was selected All-City first team defense and second team offense as well as gaining an honorable mention berth on the All-Area team and All-State team

Senior Doug Lunt cinched a berth on the second team on both offense and defense, while 260-pound tackle Geary Murdock earned a second team berth on offense. Juniors David Nigg and Fred Love made the honorable mention team

A superb job of calling plays and passing won senior quarterback Bill Bates the Eagle and Beacon Back of the Week award in the Falcons 19-6 victory over East. Gaining 82 yards on 10 carries gave Love the best individual rushing effort of the year

Twenty-six tackles and assists against Carroll won Anderson the Beacon Lineman of the Week honor

Doug Lunt was voted by teammates as the squads most valuable player tops all previous years

BEST RECORD in Falcon basketball history was set this year regardless of regional tournament results at Henry Levitt Arena, March 4 and 7. The Falcons were No. 2 in CL play Sporting a 16-3 record in season play and a 11-3 City League slate topped last year's 14-7 finish (including all games).

For four weeks the Falcons were rated No. 2 in the state on the Wichita Eagle-Beacon poll. This stirred within the Falcons the possibility of a state championship

Upending No. 2 state ranked Wichita North 52-45, in a crucial League game started "let's win state" talk

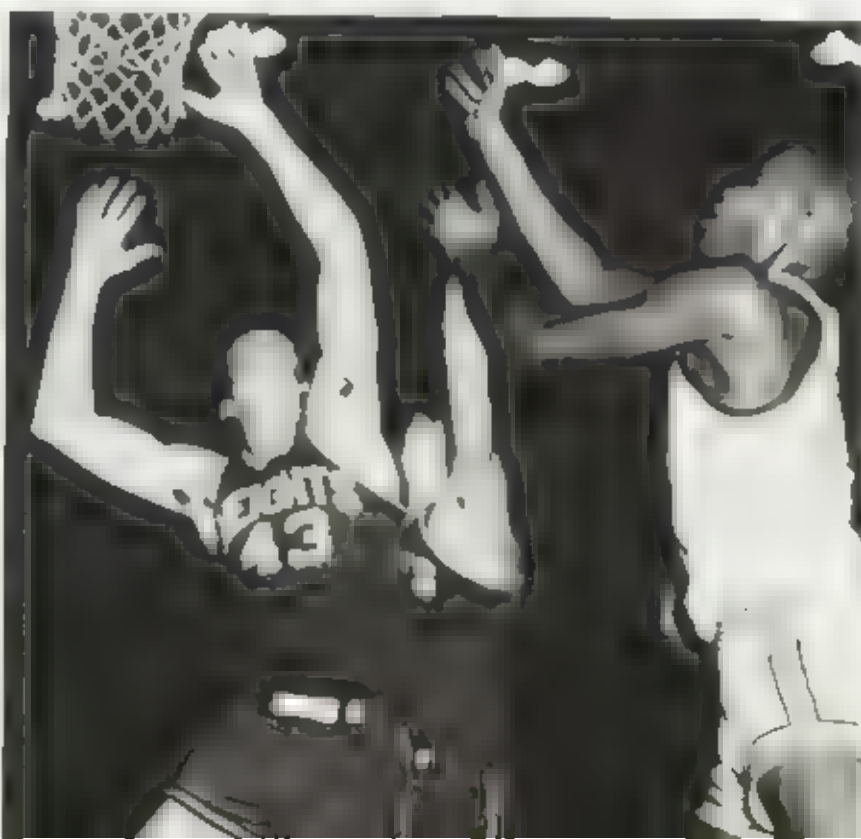

Southeast, consistently rated No. 1 in state rankings, was the only team the Falcons bowed to during regular season play until the final game of the season when West upset the Falcons, 52-50, on the Falcon court wrestlers

win cl title fifth time

UNDEFEATED in regular season matches, the Falcon wrestlers walked off with their fifth consecutive City League title

By smashing Bishop Carroll, 30-12, on the Eagles home mats, January 14, in the title showdown, the Falcons clinched victory No. 6 and the City crown

Before entering statewide competition the wrestlers had notched eight dual victories and two tournament championships.

Traveling to Campus to grapple in what Coach Dee Gard and the Wichita Eagle tabbed as the "toughest district in the state," the Heights matmen landed 11 wrestlers in the regional meet and finished second behind Arkansas City

The Falcon matmen finished third in an equally tough regional and closed out the season with a fourth place finale at the state tournament in El Dorado.

Seniors Doug Lunt and Geary Murdock finished the season with perfect 24-0 records and state championships to their credit

Doug, winning the crown in the 127-pound class last year, copped his second consecutive state title competing in the 133-pound class

Geary, wrestling in the heavy weight division, won his first state championship. He was the first heavy-weight from Heights to win a state title gymnastics

finishes sixth in state

HIGHEST FINISH in a state meet, most dual meet victories, and best finish in the city race marked a successful '68-'69 gymnastics season

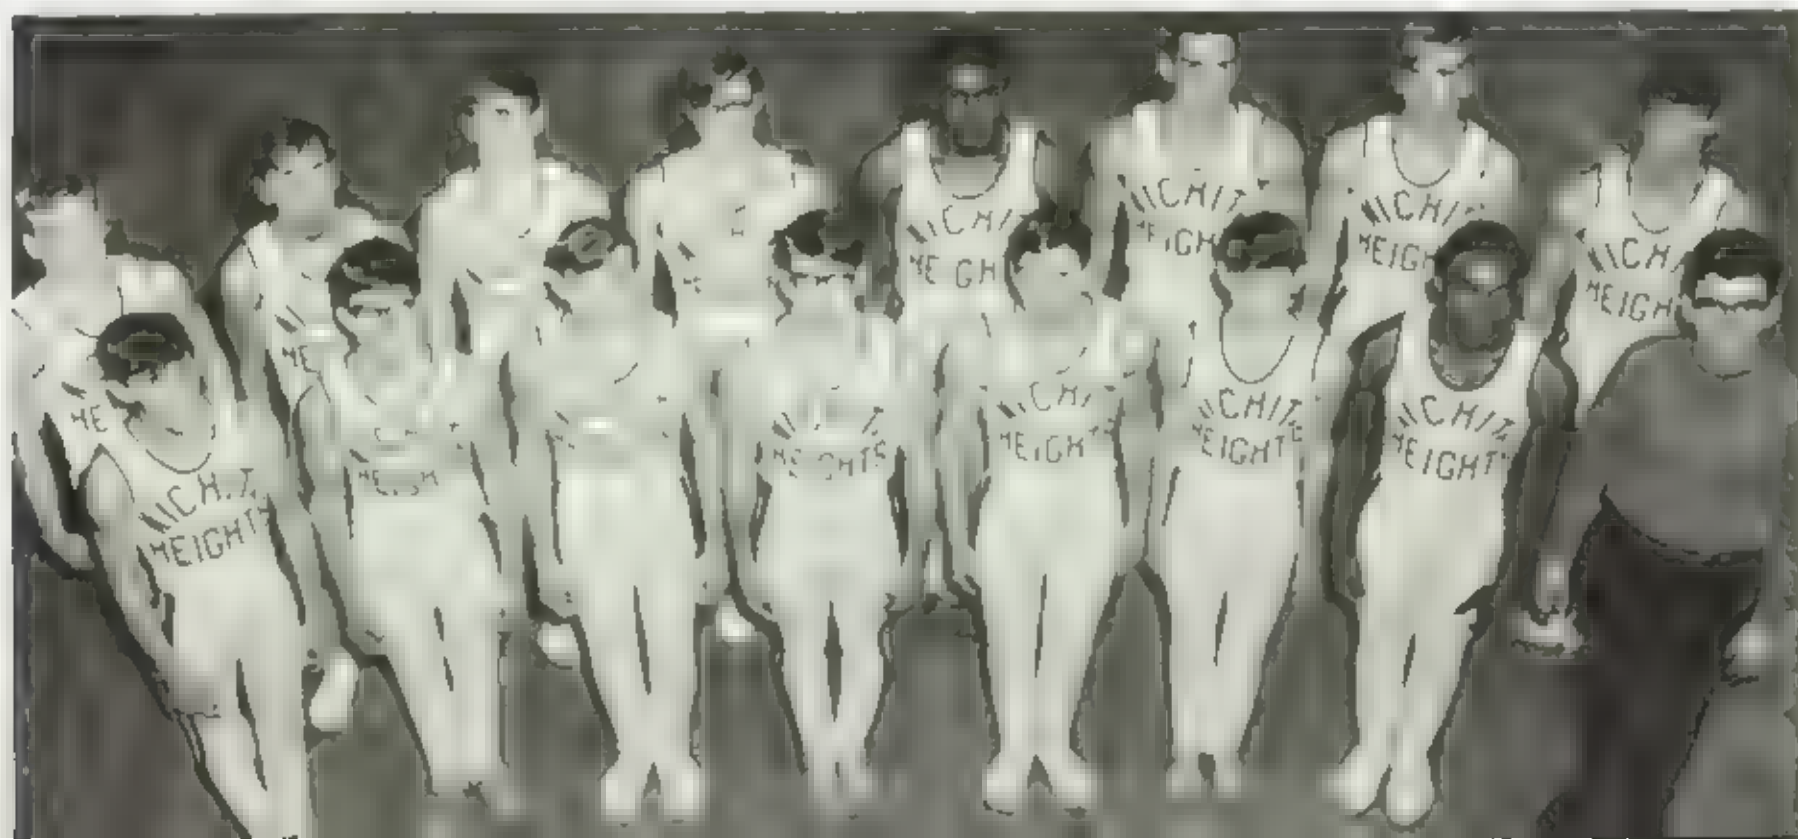

Senior Alan Burke and Johnny Sanders were the lone point getters in a state meet sixth place finish. Burke wound up the season with third place honors in both free exercise and tumbling. Sanders added a fifth on the long horse vault and sixth in tumbling

Coach Jack Mahan claimed all season the Falcons were at least the second best team in the City, second only to state runner-up and city meet champion South

The Falcons proved Mahan's belief in the city meet edging East by 1 1/6 points for the runner-up position

The three dual meet victories were over West, North, and Southeast. Last year the gymnasts won two sets 7 new records

RUNNERS up in the regional meet at Veterans Field, May 10-11, with 31 points qualified eight boys for the state meet at Salina. This and breaking seven school records — the mile run (4:27.5), two-mile run (9:45.8), the high jump (6'2"), the triple jump (42'3"), the medley relay (3:42.3), the mile relay (3:42.3), and the two-mile relay (8:22.2) gave Falcon thin clads the best season in track since Heights first competed in 1962.

Outstanding Falcon miler Steve Lee broke two records, the mile and two-mile runs.

Replacing Coach Mose Stucky as head coach, Mr. Jim Lininger had 15 returning lettermen among them, five who qualified for the state in the '68 season.

Seniors Geary Murdock, shot put; Brent Knott, high hurdles; Louis Strother, long jump; Rocky Gillenwater, pole vault; Steve Lee, mile, all state qualifiers formed the nucleus of the '69 track squad.

EARNING FIRST place trophy in the regionals at Echo Hills made the harriers the most successful cross country team in Falcon history. Captain Steve Lee came in fourth. With only three returning lettermen (Doug Lee, Kenny Barnett, and Steve Lee) the Falcon team captured another first place at the Hutchinson Invitational. The Falcons captured two second place trophies. One, a repeat performance of last year, the West Invitational at Rolling Hills, and the Heights Invitational

baseball

victory over north highlights '68 season

IMPROVING their 4 win-7 loss overall record as well as their 3-4 League record was the aim of the '69 Falcon nine when Ronal Johnson took over the coaching reins early in March

Mr. Johnson, a member of the Wichita East coaching staff last year, replaced coach John Criss

In the '68 season the Falcons beat the North Redskins (5-2), West Pioneers (10-9), East Aces (5-1), and Campus (9-7). They ended in sixth place in the final City League standings with a .429 percentage for the season

The Falcons advanced to the first game of the regional where they bowed to Newton, 5-12

Most of the City games which the Falcons lost were close ones — state champs South beat the Falcons 4-3, Southeast 7-4, Carroll 11-5, and Kapaun 6-3. Perhaps the highlight of the season came when the Falcons beat North, 5-2

Experienced players forming the nucleus of the squad were seniors Leonard Carman, catcher; Doug Lunt short stop; Darrell Anderson, pitcher; Alan Wilson, left field; Bill Bates, right field. Junior Steve Anderson played second base

NEW COACH — Ronald Johnson took over the reins for the '69 season.

CRUCIAL MOMENT — Bases loaded — score tied — tension mounts as the bull's pitcher hurries to cover the plate.

golf

new season sets pace

GOLFERS under their new coach John Criss, who was head baseball mentor last spring, had three lettermen around which to build their '69 season

Lettermen seniors Kim Richey and Clark Carrier, along with junior Bob Goehring were experienced team members.

Any win in the Spring of '69 would make the season better than last year's when the Falcon golfers finished with no dual wins. The 4-men team earned a fifth place finish in the CL meet in the Spring Valley Course and a ninth in the Arkansas City Regionals

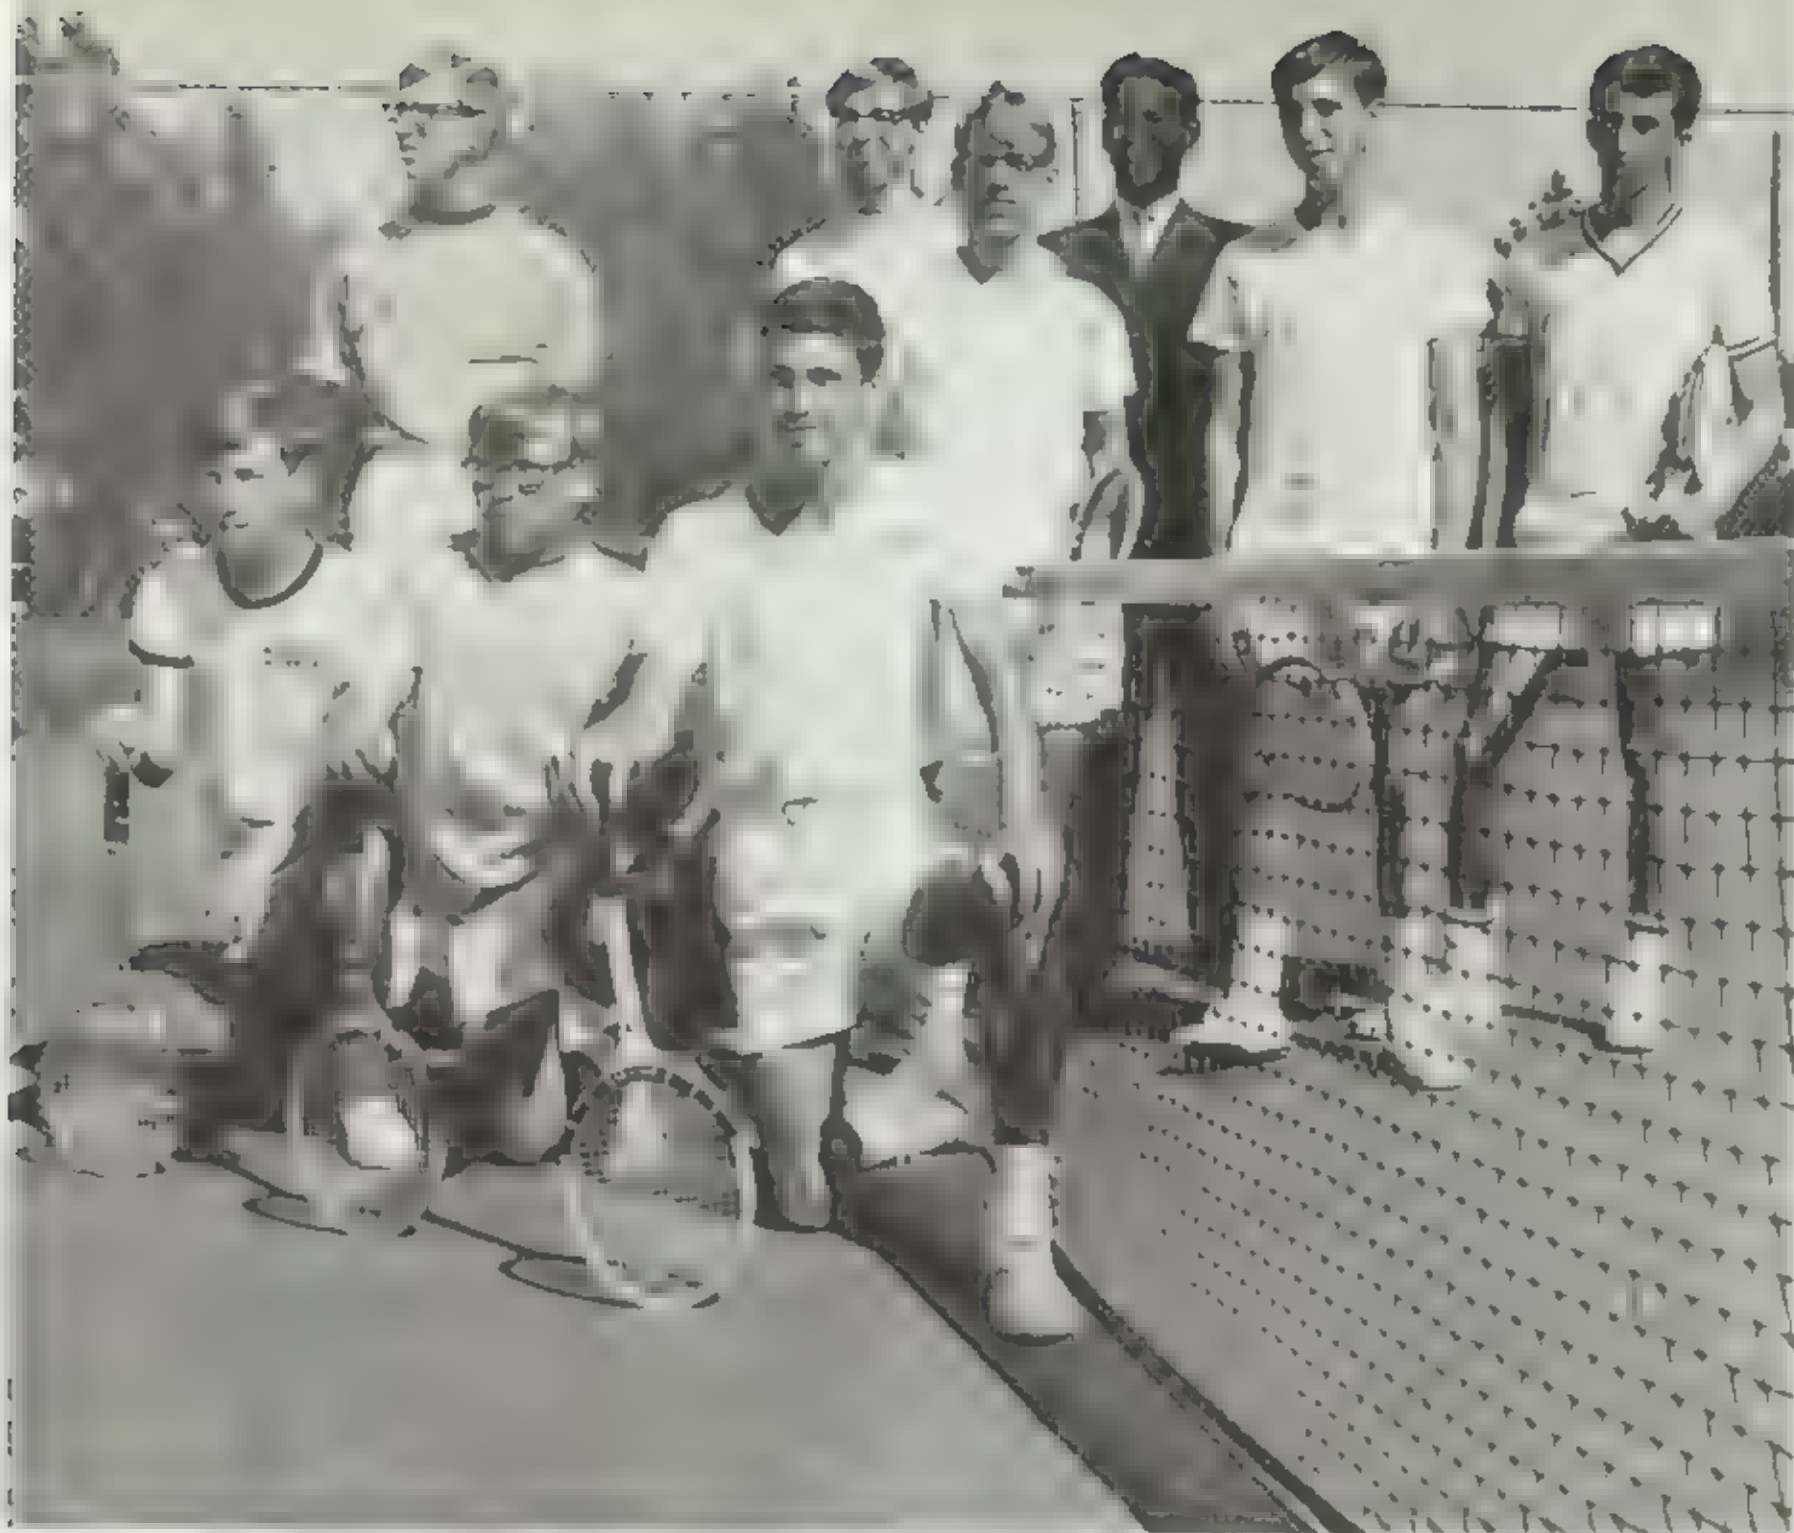

In the CL title four teams scrambled for top honors with Southeast coming out first, Kapaun and pre-season favorite West coming in second, and East fourth

Roger Nickel, '69, won his first two matches at the Dodge City regional downing his Dodge and North opponents but failed to survive the third round of play.

Returning lettermen for the '69 season were seniors Kenny Morrison, Roger Nickel, Stan Taylor, and junior Keith Richey

Squadmen not in the pictures on this page, taken before practice in the WSU courts, were R. Nickel, M. Charlton, L. Ehrlich, and Z. Ruhl

some earn coveted H

ACTION, competition, companionship and fun, that's what the Girl Sports Club provides for its members, 35 girls Earning the distinguished "H" letter was not so easy. To receive the letter each girl was required to earn 1,000 points in A-team competition, 1,500 in a B-team, and 2,000 in C-team competition. This required a lot of hard work, practice, and loyalty

Lack of facilities was the major difficulty faced by the girls. Forced to share gym facilities with the boys resulted in girls practicing wherever and whenever possible, however, volleyball practice took place at the Chisolm Trail Gym

WE MUST — Thinks Steve Wills as he stuffs his duffle bag for the Salina Football game

WE DID! — beat the East Aces and the junior posters helped Frankie Gray made sure her name was on the list junior, spirit, enrollment, zip keeps soaring LARGEST in more ways than one, the Class of '70 with 545 members was the first class to enter the Home of the Falcons as sophomores. Claiming 257 girls and 288 boys gave them a boost of 26 over the 519 enrolled in the previous year. Possibly this boost in population, helped give them the volume required to win and hold the spirit stick

From the fighting juniors came many of the varsity athletes. One-third or over of the varsity football and swimming team members were from the Class of '70

Ordering and receiving their class rings labeled the juniors higher on the superiority list. Finally came the junior-senior prom, the highlight and a proper ending of the school year

Pausing for a quarter-rest, then September 1969 will roll around soon. It will be a time for the Class of '70 to run the all-important race in another memorable year

GAINING SKILL — James Foreman, '69, works on a drill press in Mr. Fowler's class

WE WERE TUFF, cool, boss, neat — really out of sight. Yes, that's the Class of '69. Thank you! We enjoyed being seniors very much

School days are over for us but memories linger. It was a long time ago we entered the front door as lowly freshmen . . . bashfully scanned the Commons Area everything seemed so large — so unconquerable We worshipped the mighty seniors from afar

No other class can claim our distinction — we were the last class to be graduated that spent four full years in the halls of the Falcons. Just how did we make it through all our classes when we had so many other things to do? Remember the brainracking ACT, PSAT, SAT, the ITED'S

Will we ever forget the crowded ramp in front of the library between classes when we inched along to gain access to the Commons Area and into another jam where we lingered talking to friends about boys girls . . . dates . . . tests . . . sports . . . clothes . . . mostly personal things? All too soon the five-minute passing period or half-hour lunch slipped by — and all too soon this year was over

We must go, Class of '69

YORKSHIRE VOCALIST — Mark Charlton, '69, sings at the Christmas Dance

the zenith —

GLUED to television sets during Christmas vacation millions of people circled the moon with Apollo 8 astronauts the greatest achievement in history of man. Next victory . . . the moon? The universe?

Closer home the "Heights farmers," proud and determined, achieved their greatest victories . . . the band was chosen to represent Kansas in President-elect Nixon's inauguration parade in Washington, D. C. To raise the $30,000 backers sold candy, stationery, put on a carnival, and donated money . . . Marla Graves and Bill Hensley won the honor of representing state NFL members at the national tournament in Washington, D.C. . . . Falcon cagers beat the North Redskins to gain top City League ranking for the first time

These were but a few of the conquests bringing recognition to the hillside home of the Falcons.

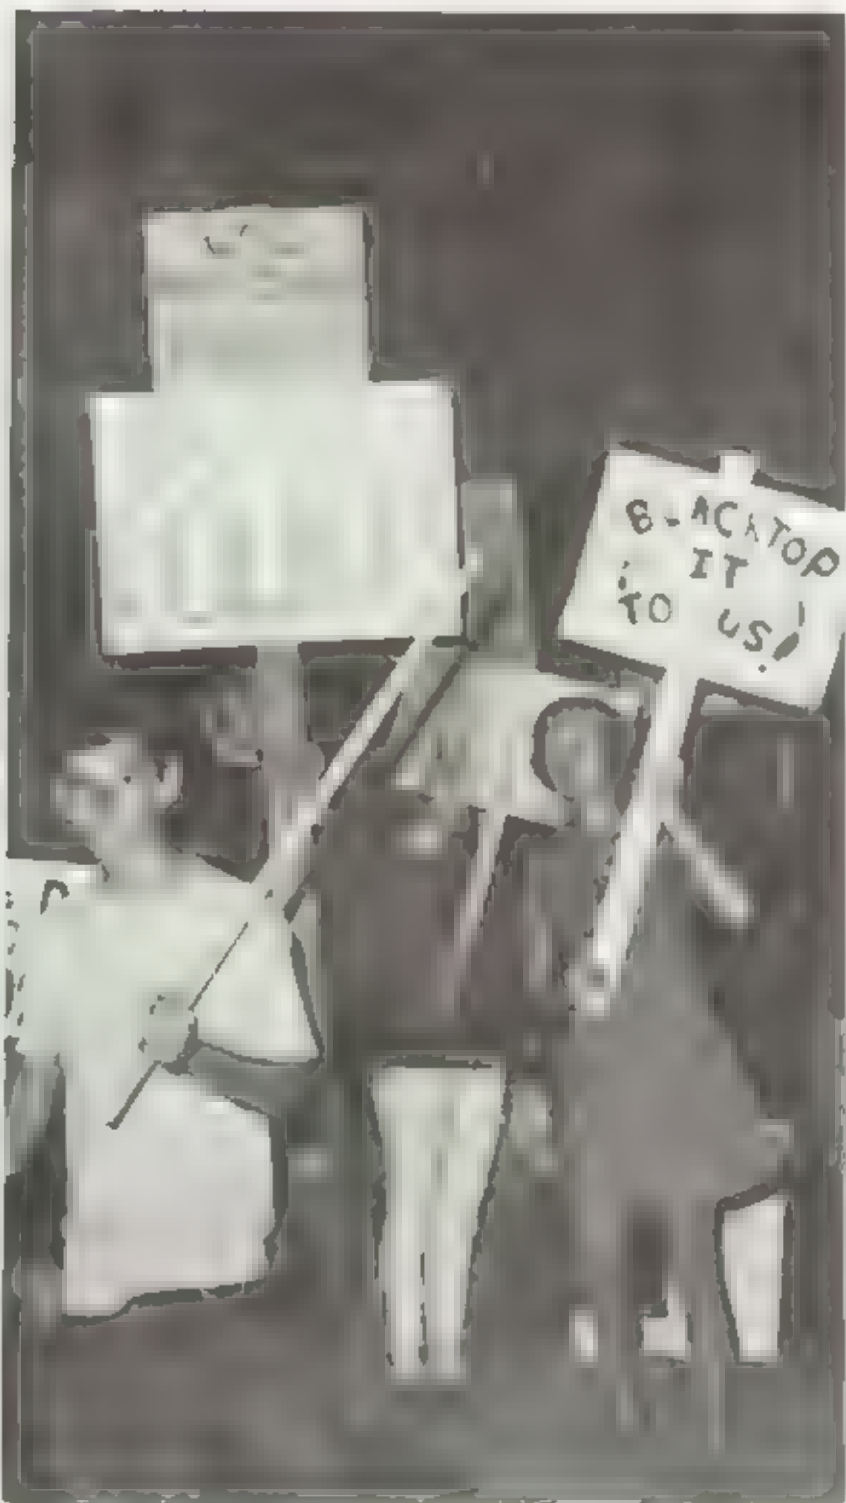

QUEEN SELECTION — The homecoming assembly was presided by senior student leader Missy Calloway. Seated next to her are Dora Barney and Rubie Carliss. On the platform, seated next to Queen Calloway, is Missy Calloway. Seated next to her is Missy Calloway.

social —

SPARKLE, zest, enthusiasm for school stemmed from the many social activities of after school hours. Falcons thrived on it, for it was a vital force in everyday life . . . Homecoming dance . . . Christmas dance . . . Sweetheart dance the Prom . . . with their queens and king . . . all helped create a series of unforgettable events.

Remember the powder puff game . . . seniors edged the junior girls, 13-12 . . . juniors received their rings just before Christmas . . . the protest march to "Get Heights Out of the Mud," when we paraded in front of the BOE with posters protesting no tennis courts and no paved parking lots

apogee —

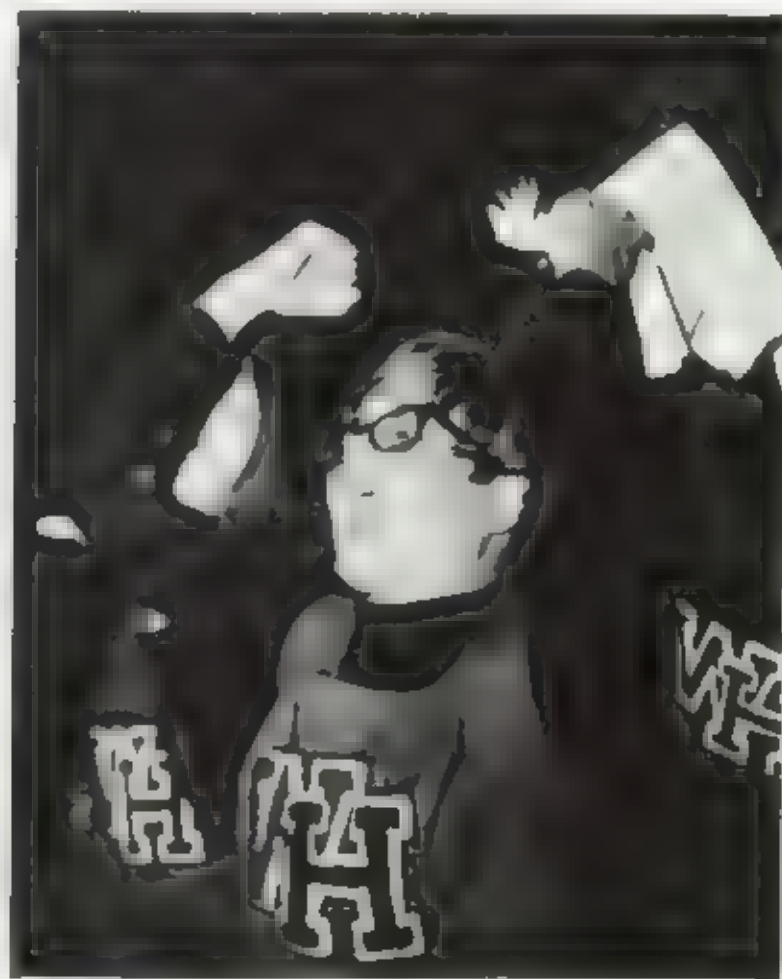

IN YEARS TO COME sounds and sights may stir the recesses of the mind . . . the clatter of a typewriter . . . watching Saturday night faked wrestling matches on TV waiting in line to plead innocent to a traffic violation while the judge's voice rings out may recall Mr. Wilson's typing classes, our City League wrestling champs, or "Napoli," a legislative game played in Mrs. Karban's government classes.

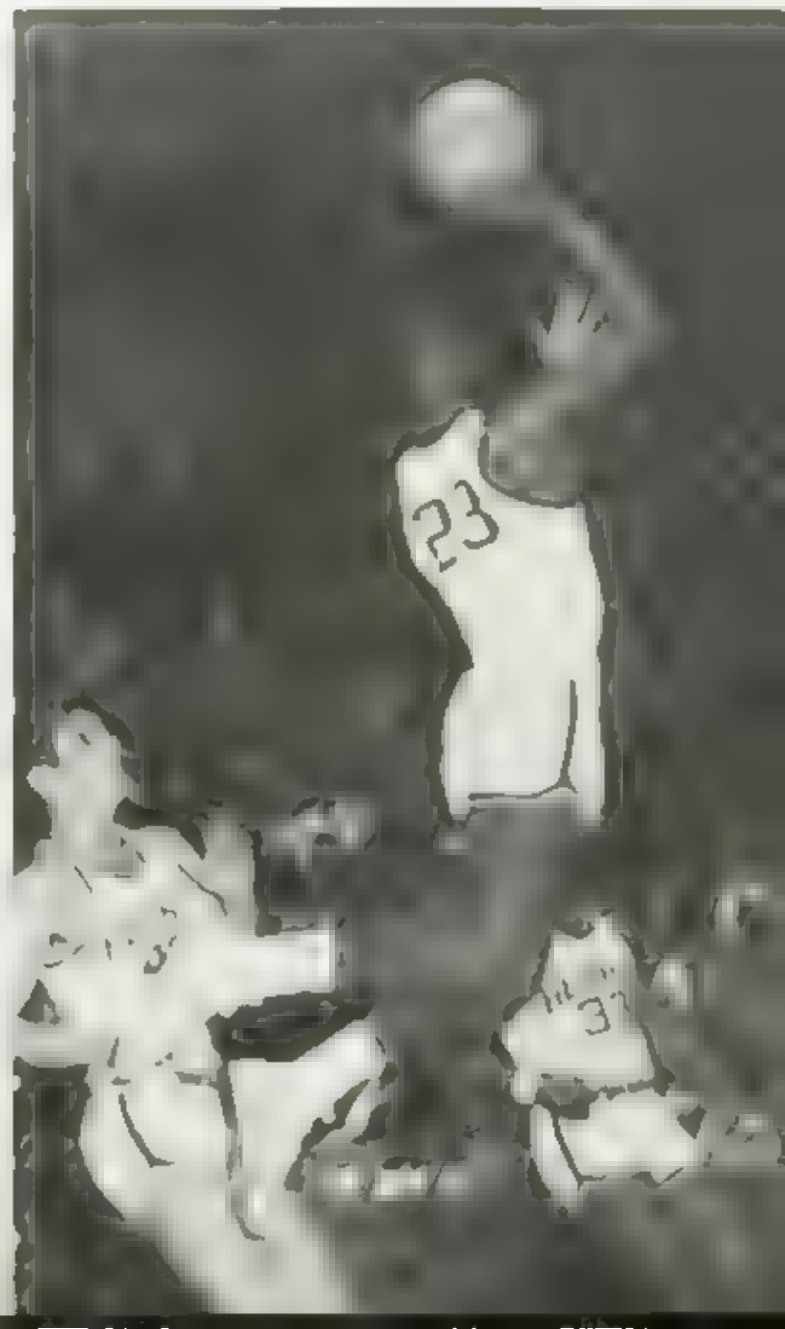

This was the year of the "generation gap", the election of President Richard M. Nixon, the hippies, Viet Nam warfare, the Pueblo affair, the surtax, the opening of Century II they affected us in many ways.

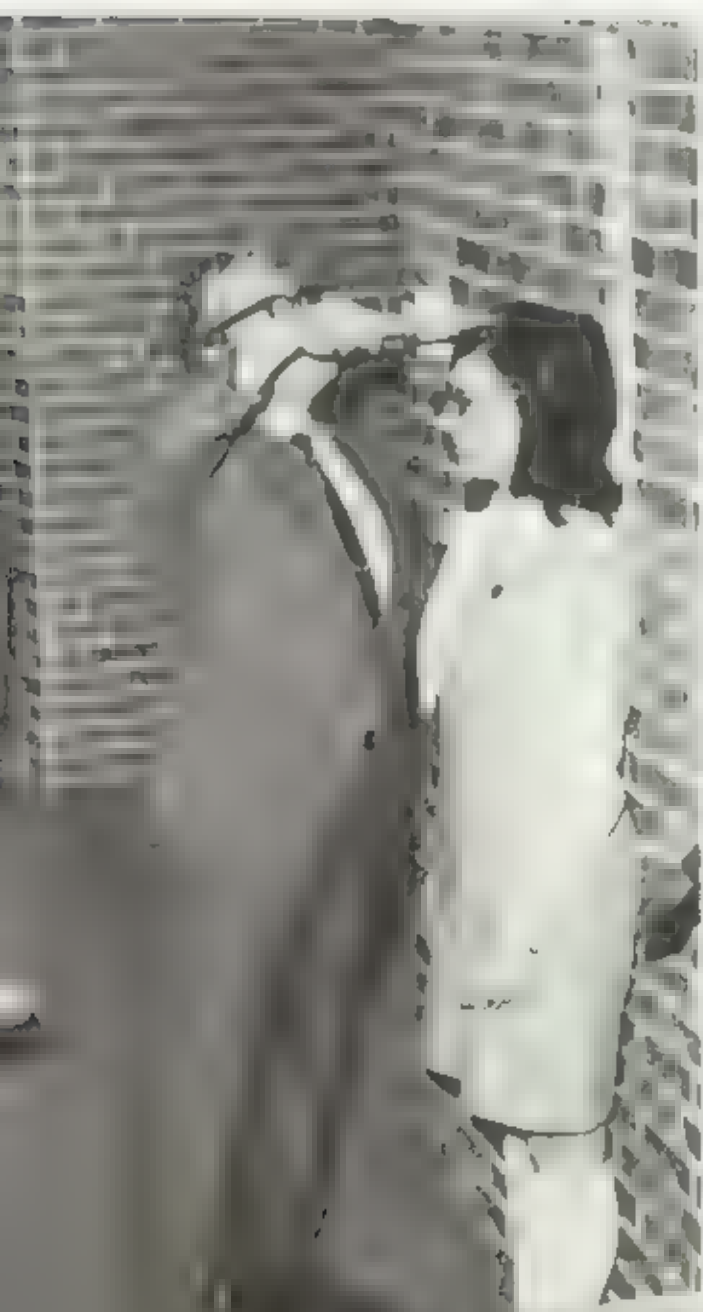

Winter sports provided an air of excitement as the Falcon cagers kept pace with Southeast in No. 1 spot throughout the season, the swimmers captured state times and the wrestlers won the League again, and gymnastics was at its best

NOW COMES the finale for the seniors. Anxiously perhaps sadly . . . even tearfully . . . the Class of '69 don their robes and walk down the steps, the long aisle in Henry Levitt Arena at WSU.

Their triangle now breaks away from the triple Falcon design . . . from sophomores, to juniors, to seniors . . . the perpetual triangle prevails for a new one, Class of '72, will unite with the Class of '70 and '71. The sixties will be seen no more but the '69 triangle moves on in a different orbit.

As the Class of '69 leaves behind the halls of Heights its members will join other triangles or symbols in college, businesses or groups . . . some much more complex, more demanding, more challenging.

Take one look at the aqua-colored triangles on the gleaming white rectangular tower. Some of us spent four years here . . . the imprints will perpetuate.

thank you

AFTER LOOKING at the pictures finding your friends perhaps yourself take time to examine the pages more carefully the cover even the copy. It was all done for you and it took time, thought, and cooperation on the part of many

The Talon '69 staff wishes to thank everyone who helped make this book come to life

Special thanks go to Mr. Murl Jones, Student Photos, for our colored pages, to Mr. Frank Wright, American Yearbook Company representative, and Mr. Don Richardson for loaning us his tractor
